From Principal's Desk

Learning is an inevitable consequence of human condition. We are born with innate curiosity, which is the manifestation of our intrinsic motivation to learn. O. P Jindal School, Angul (OPJS-A) is based upon the Institution of the family. Following are the ideologies / strategies that inspire the type of education operating within our four walls:

- Self-esteem is the cornerstone of a child's ability to savour life and to demonstrate empathy & respect towards others. We believe that self-discipline is more sustainable than imposed discipline.
- Mutual respect is the basic principle underlying constructive relationships and collaborative problem solving.
- Children need to feel secure that they are acknowledged and celebrated as individuals. Academic progress is student paced.
- Self responsibility and autonomy are necessary for personal emotional health and for providing the means to create a healthy democracy.

Dr Sonali Basu
Principal, OPJSA
